

June 13, 2013

GET enrollment is closed, but can I still buy units?

If you already have a GET account, you can still add money to it at the current unit price through July 1, 2013. Please note that we need to receive your payment by midnight on July 1 (July 1 postmarks not accepted); payments received after that time will be posted at the new unit price once it is determined. Click here for payment options and contact information.

Newborn enrollment is still open

Babies, from birth up to their first birthday, may be enrolled year-round. They may be enrolled at the current unit price through July 1, 2013. See our Newborn Enrollment page on our website for more information.

Is my GET account safe?

Your GET account is safe and secure, and GET's guarantee is specified in state law. Of the twelve states offering prepaid tuition plans, only four (the prepaid plans in WA, FL, MS and MA) include a state-backed guarantee. GET is the second-largest prepaid tuition plan in the country, both in terms of numbers of participants and total assets under management.

What about differential tuition?

Differential tuition is still being evaluated. As always, the guarantee that current GET account owners will receive a payout value based on the highest residential undergraduate tuition will not change.

Where can GET units be used?

Since the program began, GET units have been used to help students attend college in all 50 states and 14 foreign countries. During the 2011-12 academic year, 86% used their GET units to attend colleges, universities and technical schools in Washington. The list below shows the approximate distribution:

---

University of Washington	4,521	27%
Western Washington	2,646	16%
Community Colleges	2,484	15%
Washington State University	1,817	11%
WA Private Schools	1,208	7%
Central Washington University	954	6%
Eastern Washington University	511	3%
The Evergreen State College	313	2%
Out-of State Schools	2,385	14%

---

What do you think tuition will be next year?

State budget proposals are still being debated. With the extended Legislative session it may be late June before a final budget is approved and universities know what funding they can expect. Universities may charge tuition that's higher than what is included in the state budget, as long as they provide corresponding support for financial aid. Tuition at UW will likely be announced in early July, and could be as high as 5%-7%, though it may be less. The GET Committee will set the unit price after that – after the State Actuary analyzes all the variables.

How can I stay informed on current budget issues?

As always, we encourage citizens to know and communicate with their Legislators. You can follow individual bills and find contact information for your representatives at www.leg.wa.gov . The Olympia station TVW televises many hearings and committee meetings that you may find helpful.

Remember:

- With GET you're buying the future value of tuition (up to many years in the future) at a discounted cost today. Begin saving with GET before your kids or grandkids reach middle school (the earlier the better), and you will save substantially on future tuition costs and benefit from the security of the guarantee, with no worries about the ups and downs of the stock market.
- Your GET account is part of the GET trust fund, currently valued at over $2.2 billion and managed by the Washington State Investment Board. Your account is guaranteed by the state to continue to increase year after year at the same pace as tuition increases at UW/WSU. You can use this money to pay for tuition, room & board, etc. at public or private colleges, universities or technical schools nationwide.
- Enrollment is currently closed, but will reopen November 1. You may continue to add money to your existing account at the current unit price ($172) through July 1. The unit price will increase July 2, 2013.

Questions? Contact Customer Service at 800.955.2318 or GETInfo@wsac.wa.gov

Join our conversation on Facebook!